ADMINISTRATION

BOARD OF VISITORS

The William and Mary Board of Visitors was headed this year by Rector Gordon Bohannon, assisted by Herbert Foreman, vice-rector. This group of outstanding Virginians, appointed by the Governor, came from different parts of the state. They are Dr. Claude Coleman, Channing Hall, Otto Lowe, Francis Miller, Oscar Shewmaker, Robert Vaden, George Shackelford, Jr., and Miss Lulu Metz. Charles Duke, Jr., was secretary and Dabney S. Lancaster, state superintendent of public instruction, was member ex-officio. As a state-owned college, William and Mary has been placed under control of the Board which formerly owned it. Five times yearly, the board meets to elect the faculty members, approve the funds and consider the college policies. To this active group William and Mary owes its well-established, well-organized existence.

PRESIDENT

DR. JOHN E. POMFRET

Doctor John Edwin Pomfret, typical of the spirit of friendliness of the College of William and Mary, is a leading authority on advanced and modern theories of education, has received many honors, and written several books. His cooperation with the army and naval units on campus will increase the patriotism which is augmented in the college through every war.

ADMINISTRATION

Acting as the right hand of President John E. Pomfret; the administration has a great responsibility in shaping the plans for the college and guiding the students. The men who so ably fill these positions are James W. Miller, Kremer J. Hoke, George Armacost, J. Wilfred Lambert, Theodore S. Cox, Charles F. Marsh, Charles J. Duke, Vernon L. Nunn, and Earl G. Swem. No less important are the jobs held by the women: Dean of Women, Grace Warren Landrum; Assistant Dean of Women, Marguerite Wynne-Roberts; Registrar, Kathleen Alsop.

GOVERNMENT

STUDENT GOVERN

A vital part of the curriculum of the College of William and Mary this year was the Student Government. Its goal has always been to bring the faculty and the students into closer unity and to promote a better understanding between them, but since the beginning of the war it has had the additional duty of taking the lead in campus war activities. This task was performed by the General Cooperative Committee, the Senate, and the Assembly, in conjunction with the Women Students' Cooperative Government and the joint Honor Councils.

The main legislative body was the General Cooperative Committee, headed by President John E. Pomfret, through which all suggestions introduced by the student body pass before becoming effective. The members were students occupying important positions on campus and faculty members. The Senate was made up of ten outstanding students. Its chief duty was to represent the Assembly at all the meetings of the Cooperative Committee. Once a month thirty-four students met in Phi Beta Kappa Hall as members of the Assembly to introduce and discuss problems that presented themselves during the school year concerning the welfare of the Student Body as a whole.

Many things were accomplished by Student Government in the past year. The Royalist, after lying dormant for a year, was revived, with much discussion. The question was appealed to the students through the Flat Hat; the students replied with a petition for the publication of a literary magazine; and the Assembly instructed the Publications Committee to appoint an editor of the magazine, decreed ing that the magazine be confined to purely creative material contributed by the students, and that one issue should be published each semester.

Several local social fraternities were recognized by the Assembly and eventually by the Cooperative Committee, to partially take the place of the national fraternities which were disbanded on campus the year before at the request of the Governor of Virginia.

These and many other tasks were accomplished by Student Government. In this manner these organizations separately and collectively worked to promote good conduct and behavior, honesty, fellowship, and leadership, the ideals which tend to make better men and women of our students.

The Men's Honor Council is composed of three senior members, three junior members and one junior member for a one-year term.

SENATE

The Senate represents the Assembly in the General Cooperative Committee and acts as a standing committee on by-laws.

GENERAL COOPERATIVE COMMITTEE

The General Cooperative Committee is composed of President Pomfret; four administrative officials, four faculty members, Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association, Senate, President of Interfraternity Council, President of Pan-Hellenic Council, and Editor of Flat Hat.

At seven o'clock on the first Monday in every month, all women students gather in Phi Beta Kappa Hall, and the council in cap and gown conducts the business of the women student's government. The Representatives-at-Large are at the door to pass out attendance slips and paper for voting. Elections are held by floor and ballot nominations, but actual voting is done by casting ballots. The business of the meeting includes all the various activities on campus, and war activities played a vital part this year. During the year, the women students were privileged to hear Dr. Grace Warren Landrum and Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts as they spoke informally.

OPERATIVE GOVERNMENT

In 1918, the Women's Student Cooperative Government of the College of William and Mary was founded "... to further the best interests of the women students, to regulate their conduct under the authority of the college and to promote responsibility and a high sense of honor." All women students on the campus are automatically members of the association which meets regularly once a month.

The preamble of the Constitution states: "We, the women students of the College of William and Mary, believing in self-government, and desiring to assume responsibility in the management of our own affairs, so organize ourselves into an association subject to the rules and regulations of the Board of Visitors."

In organizing such a form of government, all duties have been divided among three groups: the Executive Council, the Honor Committee, and the Judicial Committee. Serving as members of the Faculty Advisory Committee for the past year have been George Armacost, Charles F. Marsh, and Harold R. Phalen.

Marjorie Lentz, president of the Executive Council, was assisted by vice-president Marcia Manewal, secretary Virginia Lee and treasurer Edith Harwood. Mary Wilson Carver and Deborah Davis were representatives-at-large. Again the council gave money from the Government Association to the Student Union Building Fund which is to be used for the construction of the Student Union Building after the war.

Each year, all women students take the tests on the Women's Students Cooperative Government Association rules and regulations. By giving these tests, the association is sure of giving an opportunity to each girl to learn the college rules, and thus be better able to comply with them. Before the tests were given, new students were divided into study groups with upperclassmen as sponsors. In studying the sorority "rush rules" these study groups visited the nine houses during the Orientation period at the beginning of school.

By suggestions presented by the Executive Council, appropriations were made at a regular meeting to redecorate the Day Students' Room. A tea was given for the day students, also upon recommendation by this group.

For the first time, student government operated during a summer session. After a successful term, it was decided that summer student government be continued as a regular part of the organization.

Early in November, the first Faculty-Student-get-together was held in Barrett Hall. At these interesting and informal meetings, different members of the faculty made talks and then had individual conversations with mixed groups during the time after the program.

After petitioning the Red Cross, the Women's Student Cooperative Government was granted a charter to establish a Red Cross branch on the campus. Other such improvements have also been suggested and carried out by this important branch of the government organization.

All duties concerning lying, cheating and stealing were dealt with by the Honor Committee which was headed by Lebe Seay. Muriel Koch and Barbara Gray were Senior members; Nellie Greaves and Nancy Keene, and Virginia Darst, Junior members; Jan Freer, Sophomore member.

DORMITORY PRESIDENTS

Lucille Fizer, Barbara Bevan,
Jane Saltzman, Ruth Cowan.

ELIZABETH SEAY
Chairman, Honor Council

FRANCES PENDLETON
Chairman, Judicial Council

Among the many "firsts" of the college, the Honor Code System was founded in 1779. Since then it has been used as a basis for honor systems in many other colleges and universities throughout the country.

Violations of the code are reported by the students to the committee which investigates the case and has the authority to impose suitable penalties. The Honor Council has been a success because of the cooperation and support of every member of the student body.

The Judicial Committee had charge of cases concerning the breaking of social rules. The chairman was Frances Pendleton and the secretary was Grace Duvoisin. Eleanor Harvey was the Junior member; Jerrie Heely was the sophomore member; and Susie Seay was the Freshman member. Representatives-at-large chosen from the student body were Katie Rutherford and Marilyn Miller. Presidents of the large dormitories automatically became members of the committee. Barrett Hall was represented by Lucille Fizer; Chandler Hall, by Jane Saltzman; Jefferson Hall, by Barbara Bevan; and Brown Hall by Ruth Cowan. These presidents had charge of house rules and regulations and were assisted by committees which they chose. Girls on the committees were the hall proctors, the fire chiefs and the vice-house presidents. Hall proctors kept the halls quiet and orderly, and also assisted during fire drills and air-raid warnings by leading their sections to assigned positions. House presidents conducted the house meetings and, in general, made certain that things ran smoothly. Continual violations of house rules were taken care of by the Judicial Committee as social rule violations.

Besides regular business at these meetings, the committee worked on a survey of social rules to obtain a consensus about what changes, if any, could improve the regulations enforced. Results of the survey allowed the committee to make more definite suggestions for the betterment of the general welfare of the students.

In its second year of operation during war-time, the Women's Student Cooperative Government Association was confronted with more and varied problems brought on by the many necessary changes which have taken place. To cope with the different situations, different regulations were needed and obtained. Among the most important changes were those of the coming of the Army Specialized Training Unit and the Naval Chaplain's Training School to the campus.

In many ways, these groups were considered and made a part of the college. By so doing, by offering aid to the other service men and women, and by doing war work, the members of the Women's Students Cooperative Government Association has seen that college traditions and standards were kept through the most trying times.

FLAT HAT

WEEKLY NEWSPAPER OF WILLIAM AND MARY

The busiest and newsiest telephone on campus rests on the editorial desk in the FLAT HAT office. Anyone who has not visited the FLAT HAT office on its "drive" day, Saturday, has missed seeing activity personified. It is a marvel to the onlooker how a civil sentence can be born in a place where everything happens at once at such a fast pace . . . the telephone rings constantly, four typewriters work at once making speaking below a shout impossible, and newspaper lingo flies around madly. "Copy, we've GOT to have more copy! . . . What's the count on this head? . . . Who's got my make-up sheet? . . . Why wasn't your story in by deadline? . . . What kind of lead is this? REWRITE! . . . Are those cuts back from Norfolk yet? . . . Hey! send some one out to cover the hole in the Sunken Garden! . . . Scoop! . . . FLAT HAT only paper in country to get personal interview of Canadian Prime Minister! . . . What's our number one story this week? . . . We haven't got one . . . Egad!"

The 1943-1944 FLAT HAT as a finished product showed that the forces working behind it were well organized in their aim to put out a paper that would meet its deadline on time and in good form, and to satisfy the need for an instrument to air the activities, accomplishment, and needs of our campus.

THE COLONIAL ECHO

The 1944 Colonial Echo was faced with major war problems as the all-girl editors began work for the publication of the annual. A necessary priority on films was of concern, but with the cooperative and loyal aid from the student body, the outlook brightened. Russ Ford, our A. S. T. U. photographer, Linwood Aron and Dinny Lee were responsible for the pictorial material in the book.

Deedee Armor, editor-in-chief, supervised the work of her staffs.

Gwen Kehl and her group planned the organization work, collected the write-ups, and gave a final touch to the Organization Section.

The Class Staff, headed by Joan Parker, was in charge of proper distribution of students in classes and drew up plans for the class sections.

Our associate editor, Becky Ramsey, assisted the editor throughout the year, and worked with the junior editors.

The Make-up staff with Marion Lang as the junior editor, was responsible for the make-up of copy and picture captions.

War made it impossible to have a full and complete Athletic Section, but Dick Bicks and Bud Weintraub did the editorial work for the Men's Athletics.

The entire staff has cooperated to its greatest extent to present to the student body a COLONIAL ECHO worthy of the tradition of the College of William and Mary.

"Gwen concocting all sorts of magic with her Organizations staff."

"Editors confer."

Photography staff, with thanks.

Under the able leadership of Winifred Gill, the business staff of the 1944 "Colonial Echo" was responsible for the financial side of the organization. Each member aided in soliciting advertisements, but the decision of the publication committee ruled that advertising be eliminated.

Perhaps the most important of all was the preparation procedure for photograph appointments, compiling an appointment schedule for the student body, collecting money for pictures, taking complete charge of ordering pictures from the photographer and financial transactions between the photography company and the "Colonial Echo." The business staff worked cooperatively throughout the year on its tasks. Jerry Hyman and Norma Bradshaw assisted the business editor in accomplishing the work.

Each member was assigned a certain amount of work and each turned that assignment in on time, which tended to make the publication a bigger and better book than in years before. Credit must be given to the business staff for their excellent work.

LITERARY MAGAZINE BY THE ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

NORMA RITTER
Editor

Each poem, story, or essay submitted to the ROYALIST was read by all the staff or by at least three-fourths of the members. To do away with any prejudice or hesitancy the names of the authors were obliterated and the manuscripts were numbered. Each person wrote his criticism on individual sheets, which were correlated by the Editor. When time came for the final decision, all manuscripts which had received any favorable comment were discussed by staff and either accepted or rejected. For the first issue it was a matter of fabulous luck that the material selected exactly fit the number of printed pages. We were forced neither to include any second-choice nor to omit anything we wanted.

It was hard work being mother and mid-wife both, but it was a lot of fun, too. We created, we criticized, we quarreled violently about some things and agreed unanimously about others. There were a lot of laughs, not a few groans, sighs of desperation, frowns of bewilderment, and ultimate rejoicing when the ROYALIST came out on time and people seemed to like it. We regretted that the ASTU contributions had to be postponed until the second issue; we regretted even more that we couldn't include some of the critical comment, which was indeed worthy of New Yorker's best satiric vein. But,

Associate Editor

"Royalist" staff hard at work.

THE ROYALIST . . .

after all, what really matters is that there is a ROYALIST, war or no. We hope that it has a long life and a merry one.

After a year of suspended animation, the ROYALIST came back to life, a new, different, and more suitable college literary magazine. The renaissance was not effortless. A few people, who believed they represented the sentiment of the majority of the students, decided to make an active attempt to reestablish the magazine. Letters signifying their intention, were written to the Publications and Student Activities Committees and petitions were circulated to prove that the campaign had full student approval and support. Dr. W. Melville Jones, of the Department of English, was of invaluable help; his encouragement and advice, as well as the cooperation of other members of the faculty, made the ROYALIST'S revival a much less hazardous one.

And so the ROYALIST was allowed a come-back. An editor was elected, a staff chosen, and the work begun. Because of the shortage of time and the decreased enrollment, it was decided to make the publication a semi-annual one. Two issues a year, rather than four, would enable a greater selectivity of material, and therefore, a higher literary standard. Our aim was to produce a magazine representative of the best writing that was in us. A college publication has to choose between two policies; it can be a light, humorous magazine like the Log or the Lampoon or a serious literary magazine like the Holy Cross Purple. Any compromise is fatal. We chose the second, more difficult alternative. We were shooting high. Lack of time and precedent increased the risk, but we had confidence in the interest and ability of the campus and this confidence does not seem to have been misplaced. Over sixty manuscripts were submitted in less than a month; about a third of them were used in the first issue. Contrary to what we had expected, almost half of the material was verse.

ACTIVITIES

Alpha Chi Omega president, Barbara offered her executive ability to the Y. W. C. A., the German Club and the Honor Council.

Jane acted as president of Chandler Hall, a member of the Judicial Council, and Senior staff member of the "Royalist."

Winnie's outstanding contribution to campus life this year was her fine work as Business Manager of the "Echo."

THE FORTY-FOUR LEADERS

Margie presided over the Delta Delta Delta chapter and supplied campus news each week to the student body through her well edited "Flat Hats."

When the social fraternity, Phi Delta Pi, was petitioned to the administration, Harvey was the spokesman and became president. His work as chairman of the Men's Honor Council was creditable.

Fren became a member of Phi Delta Kappa along with her position as chairman of Judicial Council before her February graduation.

Bill, ODK, managed the football team and edited the sport pages of the "Flat Hat," in addition to being president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Y. W. C. A. President Ross instigated new intercampus policies and led the club to a successful year.

OF FORTY-FOUR

Dave guided the Student Body as its president for the first semester, until he was inducted into the armed forces.

A willing member of the Canterbury Club, an aid to stage crew work, and a member of the Honor Council were Nellie's outstanding activities.

Mac was in charge of make-up for the "Flat Hat," vice-president of the "Y," a member of the Debate team, and of Kappa Omicron Phi.

Mary Wilson was tapped as president of Mortar Board, served as pro-tem student body president and held executive positions in the "Y" and the Athletic Association for women.

The secretarial position for Judic was filled by Grace, who also carried out her work on the Athletic Council.

Being vice-president of W. S. C. G. A. and co-make-up editor for the newspaper were Sunny's activities on campus.

When the Red Cross chapter was organized on the campus, Ellie was elected president. She, too, served as a member of the "Y" cabinet and was a junior member of Judic.

THE FORTY-FOUR

Marilyn's contributions included membership in Judic., Clayton Grimes and Student Assembly, and she was head usher for all drama functions.

Prickett was chairman of the Publications Committee, president of International Relations Club and was a Senior class officer for the 1943-44 school year.

Marion served as a member of the "Y" cabinet and as make-up editor of the "Colonial Echo."

Nancy's contribution to "Flat Hat" work was in the capacity of assistant news editor. She was an outstanding member of the debate team.

LEADERS OF FORTY-FOUR . . .

Jen was a member of the Student Music Club, secretary of the Women's Athletic Association and a member of Clayton Grimes.

Jerry made Phi Beta, served as advertising manager of the "Echo," was made president of the Interfraternity Council before the abolishment of fraternities and was a member of the Senate and Assembly.

Glo's ability was demonstrated on publicity committees and the yearbook. She served on the Student Assembly.

Lucile presided over Chi Delta Phi and Barrett Hall, in addition to being an active member in Kappa Delta Pi and the Students' Music Club.

As president of the freshman class, Bud did an excellent job. He also captained the football team.

Suzie's outstanding contribution was to the Judicial Council. She was also a member of the literary staffs.

THE FORTY-FOUR LEADERS

For four years Debby has served on the W. S. C. G. A. and was president of Pi Beta Phi.

Jack presided over his class, was a member of Student Government and was the outstanding member of the Canterbury Club.

Bill's contributions to campus life included presidency of his class and a member of the "Echo" business staff.

Deede edited the COLONIAL ECHO, was the hostess for the W. A. A., and senior council member of the Scarab Club.

Kappa Kappa Gamma elected Katie president, in addition to her work as managing editor of the "Flat Hat," acting chairman of Judic, and elected to Phi Beta Kappa and Mortar Board.

OF FORTY-FOUR

Jeanne's interest lay in theatrical work as she was president of Theta Alpha Phi and the Backdrop Club.

Joan was secretary-treasurer of her class and class editor of the "Echo."

Margie was president of the Pan-Hellenic Council and news editor of the "Flat Hat."

Edie worked this year on the War Council and was made president of the WAMS.

Sophomore Class President Jan Freer has been a member of the Honor Council.

Ben is remembered for his musical ability. He contributed to the work of Student Assembly.

Muriel was president of Chi Omega, Kappa Omicron Phi, and was a representative of the Students' Religious Union.

THE FORTY-FOUR

President of W. S. C. G. A., Mortar Board, and Phi Beta Kappa claimed Marge's time for the 1943-44 season.

Annabelle has had leading parts in many theatrical productions, was a member of the Debate team and Theta Alpha Phi.

Jimmy served as student instructor in chemistry, and was a member of Theta Chi Delta, Men's Honor Council and Student Assembly.

Lebe's outstanding distinctions were chairman of Honor Council, a member of Mortar Board, chairman of the W. S. S. F., and interest in publications.

LEADERS OF FORTY-FOUR . . .

Edie served as an officer of W. S. C. G. A.

Sally was president of Women's Debate and Dramatic Club and has roles in theater productions.

The "Royalist" was brought to life this year by Norma, who was also interested in dramatics and elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

 those dazzling rocks" . . . Sunny Manewal and Gene Kellogg are having a great time keeping the FLAT HAT'S publication and finances straight . . . has anyone seen Horatio? Dot Hammer thinks a great deal of the mythical little man . . . ten to one Fran Loesch is swanking it at the Travis House again
 . . . we wonder about Betty Lawson, our homemaker . . . more orchids to Donnie Lepper, starting a hot house? . . . some timely advice to Jean Horger—"Go west, young woman" . . .
 we find Mazie Tressler remains on the black list after that ten letter day . . . Cornie "Anatole de Paris" Westerman is not only a connoisseur des chapeaux, she also caught up to Lou Thomas in those fetching "Doctor Dentons"—Murder! . . . it would seem that Paddy Wattles has plans for the future . . .
 that sleepyhead Mac Kaemmerle puts tooth paste on her wash cloth and soap on her brush—confusing, isn't it? . . .
 Jo Parker is keeping things right on schedule . . . latest re-ages to hit that high C—and so early in the morning, too . . .

 Marcia Levering regularly trips the light (?) fantastic—keeping in trim for hockey . . . the Pi Phi's have been under fire with Edie Marsh checking the "book of life" for war work activities
 . . . so the year has rolled along . . . first the excitement of orientation . . . new friends . . . classes . . . concerts . . . Saturday night dances . . . rushing . . . clubs . . . teas . . . football games . . . our sprees at the Officer's Club . . . goodbyes to seniors and friends who are leaving William and Mary . . . good luck from the Pi Phi's . . . all good things end and the term closes . . . thanks to Mrs. Carter, our housemother, for her help in making this year such a happy one.

Stop! Look! Listen! Here comes the Delta parade of '44, the biggest and busiest year of the chapter, with Margie, our talented president, Who's Who, Editor-in-chief of the FLAT HAT, leading the parade with the sparkle of a diamond . . . close behind are here well-trained followers, musical Jean Beazley, forever keeping our piano in tune as Com directs the rest of the "song birds" . . . now and then a pause as Sease does the conga to her new timepiece . . . Ellie, worried about keeping tab of the social rules, does her part on Judic. On campus, Dot Scarborough flies low with seven pairs of wings and Ann Bruce follows, occasionally deserting campus to meet the interest . . . B. J. and Jacy, the inseparable twosome, and Judy "to be" Boone busy keeping up the morale of the ASTP boys . . . Millie and her interest in the other side of campus in the Navy phys. ed. department . . . then comes rush preparations . . . poor Peggy is worried . . . the porch painters, Tippie, Robbie and Ginnie . . . Slosson and Sherer doing their weekly bit to help on Saturday afternoons . . . Julie stays up to the wee hours making that one poster . . . "Tex" feeds the "busy bodies" with her 10 X 10 G. I. cake . . . poor "baby" Brush has to practice her r-r-r voice for the coming occasion . . . Mrs. Barnes tries to keep us on an even keel; and does a pretty good job . . . then comes Foun-er's Day with pledging and a big ham to top it all off . . . a moment, please—"Did anyone have a dream last night?" . . . Lou pops in and asks, taking off a minute from those letters . . . Lee Anne, Dorie (a circus within herself) and Peebles run in to offer their help on the profound subject . . . Keeno, representative of Honor Council, Sunny, senior officer of the Scarab Club, and June, president of Music Club, with Bulette, who is home for a change, are in the corner, bulling themselves through Mexico—again . . . and speaking of bull sessions, here comes Ginny Darst, secretary of Honor Council, always the last to leave the bull session, except when the "Pope" is around . . . great holidays for the Deltas, especially for M. J. and Katsie, the gruesome twosome . . . Betty Willcox had a merry Chris Smith, while Pat Martin keeps up her correspondence with the "sem" . . . Polly, our own issue of Mademoiselle, popping in and out of the house . . . Mary Gyntie, president, Charlie, secretary, and Ginny Townes, treasurer, gave the Chandler third floor a monopoly on pledge offices . . . and so the year ends, but summer does not mean complete separation for the Deltas, for there's always the house party planned all year . . . H O N O R

Founded at the College of William and Mary on December 5, 1776, Phi Beta Kappa was the first Greek letter fraternity in the United States. Alpha of Virginia elects to membership from the qualified members of the Senior class, from the alumni of the college who have been out of college for ten years and who have attained distinction in their professions, and from those other than William and Mary graduates who are distinguished in letters, science, education or in some other learned profession.

Phi Beta Kappa Hall was built by the United Chapters to celebrate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the organization which was founded as a social and intellectual fraternity in the Raleigh Tavern on the Duke of Gloucester Street.

On Saturday, December 4, 1943, on the one hundred sixty-seventh anniversary of its founding, Phi Beta Kappa initiated those members of the Senior class who were elected on the basis of their scholarship records during the first three years of college, as well as some members of 1943 and an alumnus member. Robert P. Tristram Coffin, well-known poet and Pulitzer Prize winner for his book of poems, "Strange Holiness," read three unpublished poems, "Upstairs," "Wind from Home," and "The Day My Son Puts on His Wings."

Faculty members: Kathleen M. Alsop, Alfred R. Armstrong, Martha E. Barksdale, John Stewart Bryan, D. J. Blocker, H. L. Bridges, Eleanor Calkins, Davis B. Camp, T. S. Cox, Edgar B. Darden, Donald W. Davis, Charles J. Duke, Jr., Harrow A. Freeman, William B. Guy, Emily M. Hall, Charles T. Harrison, Inga Olla Helseth, Richard H. Henneman, John E. Hocutt, K. J. Hoke, Althea Hunt, Jess H. Jackson, J. R. L. Johnson, J. Wilfred Lambert, Grace W. Landrum, Frank A. MacDonald, Charles F. Marsh, Donald Meiklejohn, James W. Miller, R. L. Morton, Arlene T. Murray, Fraser Neiman, Vernon L. Nunn, Thomas Pinckney, R. G. Robb, David Savan, S. D. Southworth, John M. Stetson, Earl Gregg Swem, A. G. Taylor, A. P. Wagener, R. C. Young.

MORTAR BOARD

Mortar Board is a national honorary society which was formed through the combined efforts of four groups of college women in 1918. These groups were located at Swarthmore College, Cornell University, Ohio State University and the University of Michigan. Since then the organization has grown until it includes seventy-seven chapters with about ten thousand members. The William and Mary chapter was founded in 1928.

The purpose of Mortar Board is to "provide for the cooperation between societies, to promote college loyalty, to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among university women, to maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college woman."

With this goal in mind, the eight 1943-1944 members planned the program of the local chapter. Early in the year, they helped with Freshmen orientation groups, entertained the new students at a party during orientation week and assisted at the president's reception. The annual coed dance was held in the fall. In connection with the war effort, Mortar Board's projects included rolling bandages for the Red Cross, making war stamp corsages for the Y. W. C. A. bond bazaar and the War Council's jeep drive; and collecting and conditioning books for the World Student Service Fund. Late in the spring, the chapter was also responsible for forming a committee which put on a drive for money contributions to the W. S. S. F. Mortar Board's all-year-round services included conducting a tutoring bureau, and providing magazines for the women's dormitories and the infirmary. In recognition of high scholarship, a "Smarty Party" has been held each year at which ten women who have the highest scholastic standing in each class are guests.

The most exciting event of the year was the choosing of new members who were tapped at a convocation in May before the whole student body. Qualifications for membership are "Service, Scholarship and Leadership."

The president of the organization was Mary Wilson Carver who was assisted by the other officers, Katie Rutherford, Barbara Gray, and Marian Ross.

Members may be distinguished by their pin, a small black and gold mortar board and by the Pi Sigma Alpha emblem worn on their academic gown at formal convocations.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. began the 1943-1944 season with a successful "little sister" program, when "big sisters" called on their "little sisters," helped them get acquainted with the campus customs, and generally helped them accustom themselves with activities and the college program. The high point in the "sister" program came with a party in Barrett Hall when big and little sisters met to chat, sing and have fun together.

One Saturday afternoon in October the Sunken Garden was the scene of a Bond Bazaar sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. Each club on campus took part by setting up a booth. Bingo, darts, ducking for apples, fortune telling and sketching were only a few of the things that could be done for the price of a war stamp. The success of the Bond Bazaar was proof that a "campus all out" campaign for selling war stamps can be highly successful. Plans were immediately made for a similar bazaar to be held on a larger scale in the spring.

Another activity of the "Y" was the collection of food for Thanksgiving baskets for the needy families of Williamsburg. Baskets were placed in each dormitory and each girl contributed one article of food stuff.

Chapel services were conducted throughout the year, the Thanksgiving service being outstanding. Student leaders and student speakers helped to make the programs especially interesting.

Just before Christmas a campaign for the sale of Tuberculosis stamps was sponsored by the "Y" with a goal which surpassed the sale of the previous year. The members put on a successful drive, reaching every student on campus.

Led by Marian Ross, the "Y" has accomplished the aim set by the national council for college chapters, and has attempted to undertake several campus problems which the "Y" cabinet discussed thoroughly and carefully planned.

Members of the cabinet included Marian Ross, president, Marilyn Kaemmerle, vice president, Mary Wilson Carver, secretary, and Barbara Gray, treasurer.

Committee chairmen were Eleanor Harvey, Marion Lang, Jane Saltzman, Winifred Gill and Edith Burkhard.

WAR COUNCIL

The War Council, infant campus organization, was organized in February, 1943, as a result of a growing need to stimulate interest and promote activity in the various phases of the war effort on the William and Mary campus. The council had seven administrative departments, headed by Dorothy Agurk; war stamps, Marabeth Dowd; personnel, Sarah Mills and Mary Ellen McLean; entertainment, Mary Lou Manning; service, Sunny Trumbo; USO, Pauline Walker; salvage, Nellie Greaves; and publicity, Edythe Marsh. Changes were made in February when Edythe Marsh became chairman of the council; Harriet Irvin, publicity chairman; and Jean Boyd and Bookie Wiider, USO co-chairmen. Early in October the War Council organized the WAM Corps, a war service organization composed of five hundred and forty-six coeds pledged to five hours war work per month. The war activity program for the WAMS and the campus was coordinated and sponsored by or in cooperation with the council. Activities included parties for Navy Chaplains and Chaplain's Aides, a "Stamp Stomp" and a "Jeep Hop" to promote stamp sales, preparation of over four hundred Christmas boxes in cooperation with the Red Cross Camp Hospital Committee, rolling bandages, making more than a dozen afghans. A Red Cross Chapter was organized, WAMS collected old clothes, books, junk jewelry, and Flat Hats which they addressed and sent to former William and Mary students in service. A college G. S. O., and selling apples for the benefit of the Red Cross was also part of the work. In February, 1944, a film program on war activities was shown in Phi Beta Kappa in conjunction with an exhibit of WAM and War Council work. The organization has accomplished its purpose as a war service institution of the College of William and Mary.

Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary Education fraternity, was founded at William and Mary in 1927. Its purpose is to recognize and encourage high scholastic achievement and intelligent endeavor in the field of education. Activities included a trip to Bruton Heights school and lectures on the educational system during wartime.

Kappa Omicron Phi, national professional Home Economics fraternity, cooperated in war work, participated in the Bond Bazaar, made a study of the Constitution and by-laws of the fraternity, celebrated National Founder's Day in December, and compiled a scrap-book on "Who's Who in Home Economics" during the 1943-44 season.

SPANISH CLUB

Founded in 1927 by Professor Castenada, the Spanish Club is officially named Los Quijotescos. The club has been organized to promote interest in the knowledge of Spanish literature, our Spanish speaking neighbors, their customs, and their way of life. Its curiosity, promotion and help have served students recently, on a trip to Mexico City last summer to attend the University of Mexico summer school, and in cataloguing Spanish and Latin-American material in our library.

The Spanish Club's activities in the past have been so popular that it has grown to be the largest organization on campus with well over two hundred members. About fifty new members were initiated in the fall and were given ribbons of club colors, yellow and red, to wear for a period of three days as a sign of recognition. As its share of war work, the Spanish Club has bought a war bond, contributed to the Red Cross, and other worthy causes.

Our programs are varied for entertainment, information, and amusement, and are the result of a student-faculty cooperative plan. Dr. Pierre Macy gave the club a general description of Mexican life in his address and provided a setting for Barbara Ruhl's colorful and humorous description of her life with a Mexican family while attending summer school in Mexico City. Piano and vocal selections were given by Marjorie Hill, Betty Aurell, and Eleanor Clayton, while everyone joined in singing Spanish songs of which the favorites were the Christmas carols. Many interesting programs and activities were enjoyed during the year, none being complete without refreshments, the drawing card of many a successful meeting.

Our officers for the season were Audrey Hudgins, president; Rhody Miller, vice-president; Margaret Maroney, secretary; Sue McGeachin, treasurer; Barbara Ruhl, entertainment chairman; Antoinette Robinson, publicity chairman; and Sarah Mills, refreshment chairman.

The club sponsored a booth at the Bond Bazaar which was decorated in yellow, black and red, and helped augment the war fund. Los Quijotescos held its annual picnic in the park rather than at Yorktown, because of the lack of transportation. This completed the events for the year and closed the season successfully.

The Cercle Francais opened its new season under the sponsorship of Professor Pierre Macy with the officers who were elected last year: Ruth Weimer, president; Eleanor Harvey, vice-president; Gloria Brush, secretary; Frances Pendleton, treasurer; and Nellie Greaves, chairman of the program committee.

Meetings were held in Chandler Hall living room and opened typically with the singing of French songs by the entire club. Programs were then arranged under the leadership of Nellie Greaves and assisted by Gloria Iden. Professor Macy generously gave his time and services in supporting and contributing to all of the programs. Consequently interesting and entertaining programs were planned, including French music, both vocal and piano selections, a French play, appropriate talks by members of the faculty and guests, and recitations in French. Ambitious plans were also made for a club picnic to be held in the spring.

At the first meeting in October, by popular request, Professor Macy repeated a talk of episodes experienced in Underground France, which was as before, enthusiastically received by the members of the club.

A second meeting in November was made very interesting by Mrs. Oliver Freud, who honored the French Club with a resume of her recent impressions of Europe.

The program committee came forth with a most entertaining and appropriate Christmas program. The evening's presentation was opened with group singing of many famous French Christmas carols followed by several French vocal and piano selections. The main part of the program centered around an original French play written by Professor Macy from the book "Toc Toc Toc", which was enjoyed immensely by the members and their guests.

Continuing the policy of last year, the club extended invitations of membership to all who were interested in French and as a result the club maintained a large and cooperative membership.

The Virginia Alpha Chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatic fraternity, had as its members this year Jeanne Mencke, Sally Snyder, Margaret Lomas, Norma Ritter, John Manos, Betty Driscoll, Anna Belle Koenig, and Anne Ray, chosen for their outstanding work in the several fields of the theatre.

Once more the college Dramatic Club recorded a memorable year. The meetings were taken up with discussions of current Broadway plays, interesting work of other theaters and of our own productions. Highlighting our season were the annual Christmas party in the Wren Kitchen and the Spring Picnic at the Shelter.

BACKDROP CLUB

The year 1943-44 marks the seventh anniversary of the Backdrop Club. Since 1937 students interested in producing a college varsity show have combined their talents annually in this club in writing scripts and music, making costumes and constructing stage sets.

The first show was entitled "Spring Cleaning" and in the following year "Set to Munich" was produced. In 1939 and 1940 the respective varsity shows were "A Nickel Ain't Nothing" and "Peace Brother, It's Wonderful." The last show given was in 1941. "Take a Deep Breath" was a success both from the financial standpoint and from actual theatrical and production aspects. The soldiers from Fort Eustis were the guests at the Saturday night performance.

Last year for the first time we were unable to produce the annual show. Work was well under way on "Ladies in Hades or Hell's Belles," when the sudden male shortage put a definite damper on the idea.

To compensate members for the loss of the show, a party was given backstage in Phi Beta. Everyone sang the old varsity show songs, "Ten to Ten," "Brush Your Teeth," and concluded with dancing and refreshments.

The club officers were Jean Mencke, president; Sally Snyder, vice-president; and Ruth Kenyon, secretary-treasurer.

Despite definite handicaps, the Backdrop Club still functions in cooperation with the Fine Arts Department, especially in constructing stage sets for the theatre productions.

Several scripts were brought to the attention of the officers and tentative plans were made to produce. The outcome depended upon talent and music, and also on the availability of materials for sets and costumes. But in spite of the obstacles a definite attempt was made to carry on the tradition with another outstanding and memorable varsity show for the campus.

The Clayton Grimes Biological Club, when founded, was first named the John Clayton Biological Club in honor of John Clayton, one of America's first botanists of renown. Later the name of Grimes was linked with that of Clayton, in honor of Jerome Grimes, professor of botany at the College of William and Mary, to give the club its present title.

Activities being hampered this year, due to transportation and difficulties in securing materials desired, the club began with a slow start, but rapidly increased its progress despite the effects of our third year of war. Under the directions of Kenneth Winfield, president; Nancy Carnegie, secretary-treasurer; and Eugene Goldschmidt, program chairman, a series of student talks and discussions and motion pictures were given throughout the first semester.

The student talks, a requirement for qualification as a "key member," covered various fields of biology, depending upon the interests of the speaker. They were mainly for the purpose of acquainting the students with the various methods of investigating scientific research, and the process of looking up material on a scientific basis, as well as education in different fields of biology. Many interesting discussions arose from the student talks, namely cancer and tissue culture.

Motion pictures given for the benefit of both the elementary and advanced students played a great part in the weekly meetings of the club, each one devoted to a particular field of study.

The annual field trip was abandoned due to war conditions, and in its place was substituted a seafood picnic held at Lake Matoka, enjoyed with the usual enthusiasm known to the Clayton Grimes Club members.

The climax of the year was reached in April when everyone in the biology department and all those interested in biology cooperated under the sponsorship of the club and directed the "biology Open House," the central theme being exemplified mainly in the Physiology and Bacteriology departments.

The success of the Valentine Dance was due in part to the elaborate decorations. Glo Rankin designed the over-sized Valentines which adorned the walls. The ingenious idea for the favors was conjured up by Ann James and Sunny Trumbo. A huge heart gate was made by Anne Ray with the aid of some of the A. S. T. U. boys. At the last moment, Marion Ross, tireless in her efforts, helped to place the bright red streamers. Everyone relaxed, and some hours later happy couples were dancing to music supplied by the Camp Peary orchestra.

G E R M A N C L U B

Melodious strains of the A. S. T. U. orchestra drifted from Blow Gymnasium the first Saturday night after classes had begun. Once again the German Club, under the leadership of Lebe Seay, launched another successful year, but a year greatly influenced by Uncle Sam. The thought of blind dates, especially the G. I. variety arranged by the efforts of Major McGinn and Miss Wynne-Roberts, brings to the minds of coeds and cadets who attended this formal the tortured suspense, and yet the hopeful anxiety with which everyone awaited an introduction to "the prize" won in the "Army Raffle." Consequently, the coeds met the cadets; new acquaintances were made and the cadets began to feel they were a real part of our student body.

The second formal sponsored by the German Club was on February 12, and was marked by a decided Valentine's Day influence. Each German Club member gave her date a Valentine containing two defense stamps.

The German Club was all-out to aid Uncle Sam. It bought a $100 war bond in addition to sponsoring a raffle of a $25 war bond last fall.

Marjorie Retzke, secretary; Mary Raney, treasurer; Barbara Gray, vice-president, and Lebe Seay were kept busy administrating the details of bids, dances and other essentials; and many members contributed by giving much of their time before each formal, to make each a dance long remembered by the khaki, navy blue, coeds and the many others who attended.

COLLEGE CHAPEL CHOIR

At five of seven on Wednesday nights the bell in Wren tolls for students, faculty and visitors to gather together in the South wing of the Christopher Wren Building for a half an hour of vespers in the College Chapel. The Chapel Choir sings for every vesper service, providing music for the programs appropriate to the service and to the atmosphere of the college and town. Over several years, the Choir has developed an interesting and varied repertoire, drawn from many periods of history, and many different schools of musical composition. The Choir is directed by Allan Sly, who came to William and Mary in 1939 as head of the Music Department. Miss Adams, a newcomer to the Music Department this year, accompanies the Choir on the organ and assists in directing both the College Choir and the William and Mary Chorus.

In addition to their weekly engagements at the Chapel, the Choir leads the processions at all the College Convocations and provides the music for the commencement program in June. At Christmas time there is a special Vesper Service in the Chapel, during which appropriate selections from the story of the birth of Christ are supplemented by carols sung by the Choir.

Each year before Christmas vacation there is a concert in Phi Beta Kappa Hall, put on by the various musical organizations of the College. This year the College Choir, the William and Mary Chorus, made up of students and A. S. T. U. students, the Chaplain's Choir and various individual members of the music department, gave a most successful program.

The planning of the various activities and engagements of the Choir is done by Mr. Allan Sly, together with Marion Commer, the President of the Choir, and members of the committee. Choir membership is determined by tryouts given in the College Chapel at the beginning of each year. All members of the student body are urged to compete.

CANTERBURY CLUB

The Canterbury Club is the association of Episcopal students at the College of William and Mary. The organization on this campus is a chapter of the International Canterbury Club, which is the association of Episcopal students at colleges all over the world. The club was founded here several years ago and functioned unofficially for some time. In the spring of 1942 the club was given an official charter.

The club sponsors the Sunday Vesper Services at Bruton Parish Church. The members meet once a month at a formal meeting in the evening and again once a month at a corporate communion held at the College Chapel, which is followed by a breakfast at the Bruton Parish House. At the beginning of the school year and during Lent the Canterbury Club gives a tea, which is followed by a lecture and a forum discussion, every Sunday afternoon.

The activities of the Canterbury Club include visiting inmates of the Eastern State Hospital, taking charge of the parish Sunday School and teaching classes, serving as acolytes and ushers at the church and doing Altar Guild work. This year the Canterbury Club assisted with the War Bond Bazaar. The officers of our chapter of the club are as follows: John Paul Carter, president; Frances Pendleton, vice-president; Bookie Wilder, secretary, and Nellie Greaves, treasurer. The social chairman is Joan Worstell, and Betty Niederlander is the chairman of the Altar Guild. The Rev. Francis H. Craighill, the Rev. Alfred Alley, and Miss Constance Applebee act as sponsors.

The most effective and important work done by this year's Panhellenic Council, the administrative council for the nine sororities on our campus, pertained to plans to carry out successfully a new system of rushing. For the second year the Council experimented with rushing deferred, but this year the rules changed the system by providing for a period of almost free association between sorority girls and rushees between September and November. Several new ideas were instituted. A mass meeting was held to thoroughly explain the rushing rules to the women students, and a series of "mixers" was held in Barrett Hall for sorority and non-sorority women at which singing of sorority songs was the program feature. A new set of forms was devised on which violations of Panhellenic rules could be reported most efficiently. Rules were made for rushing of students entering in February. Panhellenic had a colorful booth at the Y. W. C. A. Bond Bazaar. Much work was done for careful revision of the Panhellenic constitution. In March Panhellenic held its annual reception for faculty and administration in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. Representatives of the Fraternity Association and of the social fraternities for men were invited to help receive with representatives of the sororities at this reception. The work of this year's Council meetings held twice monthly has laid a groundwork for future activities which, as stressed by the National Panhellenic Congress, will be necessary to meet new problems created by the war situation, such as the effect of the accelerated college program on fraternity personnel, and the new responsibilities that have come to fraternity women in making adequate contribution to the war effort. Emphasis will continue to be placed on the necessity of every fraternity to live its ideals of service and to prove its worth by its unselfish contribution to the campus and to the community.

Phi Delta Pi found its place on the campus of the College of William and Mary in September of 1943. Founded with the intention of offering a substitute club that would be in a position to carry on social functions which the national fraternities, inactive since last year, had been giving, the eight charter members secured approval from the college administration, issued bids and Phi Delta Pi began to grow to its present size of approximately thirty members. During the year, Phi Delta Pi has been very active considering its youth among campus organizations. With its bi-monthly serenades and consistent sponsorship of college functions, the club has become more firmly entrenched throughout the year. Its many activities included the sponsorship of a campus-wide drive to raise funds in order to send "Flat Hats" to alumni in the service and a Sadie Hawkins Dance which proved to be a highlight of the year. Its participation in the Bond Bazaar in the fall and the distribution of advertising material for home games during football and basketball season are just a few of its many contributions. Although organized only for the duration, Phi Delta Pi is gradually becoming one of the leading organizations striving to promote a better college spirit following its motto of "Friendship, Scholarship and Leadership."

The decision of the Fraternity Association to place all social fraternities on an inactive basis for the duration led to the establishment of Kappa Tau to fill in the social gaps left by this administrative move. Without any particular purpose in mind other than to promote college activities and to have a good time, nine men living in the Old Infirmary banded together, secured approval, and founded Kappa Tau. Formal organization with William Britton as president, Edward Griffin as vice-president, LeRoy Peake as secretary, and Wally Rowe as treasurer was followed by open rushing in the fall, which netted members and brought the roster to twenty five. The Kappa Tau's have been very successful in their varied activities and social functions, the highlights being their Thanksgiving Ball and the Pin Dance in March. Among the campus organizations, Kappa Tau has taken its place for the duration and is to be remembered by its numerous paintings which have become so traditional on the campus of William and Mary.

A squad of eight cheerleaders kept the spirit of the student body and the football team at a peak this year. They introduced new yells and held pep rallies to keep the cheering section on its toes.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The task of keeping the men physically fit and organizing all sports activities at William and Mary is in the hands of the Athletic Association. This capable group has a threefold purpose. Their first duty lies in the required physical education courses for every man in college. Civilian as well as army classes were under the direction of such excellent instructors as "Rube" McCray and Dwight Stuessy. The emphasis in all classes has been on endurance. The strenuous work of these classes has been responsible for the physical fitness of all college men. The direction of the large intramural program is the second duty of the Athletic Association. Through the hard work of "Swede" Umbach, a league of six teams was organized. Four army and two civilian groups battled it out for prizes in volley ball, basketball, swimming, ping pong, soccer and baseball. Intramurals were one of the most popular and successful features of the sports program this year. The most well-known function of the Athletic Association is to see that William and Mary is properly represented in inter-collegiate sports.

In charge of the William and Mary Association is Carl Voyles, head of the Physical Education department. The other members include Dwight Stuessy, Reuben N. McCray, Arnold Umbach, Ken Rawlinson, and Glenn Knox. Through their efforts have been obtained a spirit of true sportsmanship and a healthy body.

It was left to Coach McCray to form a football team out of a green squad which reported in early September for practice. It was a hard task, but in two weeks the new team was moulded and ready for combat. Unseasoned, but with fighting spirit, the new Frosh team encountered the ASTU men on Cary Field and were victorious.

The last three games of the season were played at home and each one was won. The first was an upset when the fighting Braves met their victorious opponent, the Apprentice School Varsity. This time the Indians were on the war path; came out on top with a 15-0 triumph over their favored foes.

The next week saw an upset at Cary Field when the now seasoned squad of army and civilian players trounced the Richmond Army Air Base by 14-6. This proved to be the best and most noteworthy game of the season and a never-to-be-forgotten victory.

Thanksgiving, the day awaited by all the Freshmen, came and the Indians were sent out on Cary Field for the last game of the season, to meet the Norfolk Fleet Marines. This contest decided the fate of the Freshmen for the Braves rolled up a score of 72-0 to finish a hard-fought season in true William and Mary style.

From a green squad, with very few veterans, Coach McCray was capable of beating the top eleven it fought against. The Frosh Indians were tried and proven the best.

Encouraged by the success of football despite great difficulties, a movement to represent William and Mary in intercollegiate basketball gained momentum. With the memory of 1942's team still fresh, both campus and army men organized teams. It was decided by Coach "Rube" McCray that the best combination of these two groups would play for home games while civilians would represent the college on road trips. The Army soon produced some real basketball talent and captured four of the five starting positions. Captained by Ed Holle the group included Willis Dixon and Bill Turk. The first two became guards while the last two were forwards. The bucket position was earned by Austin Wright, a Williamsburg man. The first team was called the William and Mary regulars and set a dazzling pace. When the four Army men were pulled out of the lineup late in February three of them were among the five highest scorers in the state. The Indians even led the Southern Conference for several weeks. Each man was a fine individual player working together to produce a smooth team. The most exciting game of the year was with the University of Richmond. The Indians, rated as the underdogs, staged a thrilling rally in the closing seconds to win by a score of 58-55. Because of army regulations the first team could not leave campus so a Reserve team played the road games. Led by Captain Austin Wright, with "Doc" White, Jason McClellan, Bill Martin and Bill Peagramin in the other positions, the the admiration and support of the entire campus. Tribute must be paid to Coach "Rube" McCray for his skill and untiring efforts to improve the team. Because of their great showing the basketball team was well supported by the student body. William and Mary did not get a bid to the Southern Conference playoffs because the army men were unable to leave the campus. Despite great obstacles the William and Mary basketball team has proved itself worthy, if not in quality, in spirit of the great teams of the past.

SEASON, 1943

Reserves built up a strong record among the less powerful teams of the state. Late in February the Reserves became the first team when the four Army regulars were withdrawn. Their gallant efforts against overwhelming odds aroused

MISS MARTHA BARKSDALE

As head of the Athletic Department for women, Miss Martha Barksdale unceasingly gives time and effort for the greater joy and happiness of the women students through intramural games and participation in college activities.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

MISS HELEN BLACK

Participation of every woman student is the aim of the women's athletic program at William and Mary. Under the guidance of Miss Martha Barksdale and Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, faculty members, a well-rounded sports program for women has been established. The varsity schedule was not very extensive, due to transportation difficulties, but the competition was keen.

The president for the 1943-44 season was Mary Wilson Carver. Sue Lamb served as point recorder and Janet Ginsburg was the secretary. Mary Augusta Williams was the student head of intramurals.

Miss Constance M. K. Applebee was again a visitor to William and Mary, augmenting the coaching staff for a time. It was Miss Applebee who first introduced hockey in America and her instruction was one of the highlights of our sports year.

Managers were: Gloria Rankin, publicity; Kathleen Babin, archery; Edythe Marsh, badminton; Joyce Remsberg, basketball; Marjorie Webster, bowling; Jeanne Mencke, dance; Jane Saltzman, fencing; Eleanor Rheuby, hockey; Doris Armor, hostess; Charlotte Timmerman, la crosse; Marlyn Miller, swimming; Martha Macklin, tennis.

Intramurals played a leading role in the sports program this season, more than ever before, because of the curtailment of the varsity schedule. Both inter-sorority and inter-dormitory representatives battled for the champion and trophies awarded to the winners.

Every girl was included, either through classes or intramurals, in the well-rounded program of sports at William and Mary and the season closed with success.

Congratulations from the coach.

Tennis tournaments.

SWIMMING

The swimming team of yester-year is no longer in existence. Due to the war, intramurals, including sororities and dormitories, were the only swimming meets this year. A national Intercollegiate Telegraphic Meet had been planned, but lack of facilities for practice periods caused the cancellation.

TENNIS

Wartime conditions eliminated the varsity this year, but competition in intramurals made up for the loss. The sorority league gave first place to Kappa Alpha Theta, second to Alpha Chi Omega, third to Kappa Kappa Gamma and fourth to Chi Omega. The three dormitories came out in this order: Barrett, Chandler, Jefferson.

INTRAMURAL

HOCKEY

Hockey intramurals took the place of varsity games this year. One league, comprising the dormitories and a sorority, finished in this order: Jefferson and the sorority team tied for first, Chandler came in third, and Barrett, fourth. The sophomores led the class league, with juniors, second; seniors, third; and freshmen, fourth.

BASKETBALL

Basketball intramurals constituted the outstanding contest for the year. Each of the four leagues fought to the end for first place. Placings were as follows: sorority teams, Alpha Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi; dormitory teams, Jefferson, Chandler.

Basketball playoffs.

Bridge in Barrett.

Badminton finals.

Ping-pong contestants.

SPORTS . . .

BRIDGE

The bridge tournament brought forth the "card sharks" of the campus. In the finals, the Delta Delta Delta aces defeated the rest for first place and Kappa Alpha Theta, Chi Omega, and Gamma Phi Beta followed. The dormitories came in: Chandler, first; Jefferson, second; and Barrett, third.

BADMINTON

With April came the badminton season. The sororities and dormitories turned out full force to see who would be most adept at batting the "bird" back and forth across the net. Chi Omega was the winner of the sorority league and Jefferson won the dormitory league.

PING-PONG

Ping-pong intramurals were held early in November. In the sorority league, Gamma Phi Beta led, Alpha Chi Omega and Chi Omega tied for second place, and Delta Delta Delta came in fourth. Chandler won in the dormitory league with Barrett and Jefferson coming in second and third.

ARCHERY

This year archery intramurals were played, reviving a custom allowed to lapse for a year during the 1942-43 season. They were not held until May, however, which was after the ECHO had gone to press. Classes were given in archery in the fall under the direction of Miss Reeder.

Miss Margaret H'Doubler, through her enthusiasm for the dance as an art of expressive gesture, formed Orchesis at the University of Wisconsin twenty-six years ago. As educational dance received public recognition, this informal group gradually raised its standards regarding try-outs, membership and meetings. Through these original members, Miss H'Doubler laid the foundation for an organization which has spread to other campuses where there has been an interest and a demand for the art. Miss Grace Felker brought Orchesis to William and Mary four years ago. The few specific rules of Orchesis are minor when compared to the unwritten laws concerning the creative spirit and attitude of the whole group necessary to keep such an organization in existence. "Orchesis" is a Greek word meaning "the dance." Originally the "orchestra" was a place for the chorus of dancers. Later, as the importance of the chorus in drama diminished, the entire action took place on the elevated platform, "the stage," and the orchestra was given over to musicians.

This year's Dance Club, under the direction of Miss Arlene Jackman, is divided into Orchesis and Dance Group members. Jean Mencke is president, Florence Metius is secretary-treasurer, and Jean Boyd, historian.

ANNOTATIONS

Before the Phi Beta Kappa address.

Came September and we found some new "firsts" to add to our already long list . . . first time we saw soldiers marching on our brick walks and keeping the "William" in our name . . . first time coeds were able to band together as the WAMS for service work . . . first time the Sunken Garden lived up to its time honored title.

Tribunals, with Jan Freer as Heap Big Chief Justice, began authoritatively as P. D. Reynolds stole the show with his version of "what-the-well-dressed-maid-will-wear" . . . and Jane Waddington sportingly emerged sans "paint" . . . upperclassmen cheered frosh spirit . . . enter class of '47.

Phi Delta Pi's and Kappa Tau's provide men's social life, thanks to Harvey . . . best dances on campus . . . fraternity "spirit" kept alive for post war days.

All out for war work . . . YWCA Bond Bazaar in the Sunken Gardens in the fall provided opportunity to really hit Hitler, have fortunes told, be sketched . . . all for prices of war stamps . . . WAM hours mounting up . . . Wigwam stamp booth . . . afghan squares . . . stamp corsages, courtesy of Mortar Board . . . to help bring our boys back to W. and M.

Many meetings and conferences were finally rewarded by the establishment of a new ROYALIST . . . Norma and Smudge and their "baby" . . . dedication to Dr. Borish, missing in action . . . great talent . . . speaking of talent . . . great acclaim to Miss Hunt and troupe for "Papa Is All," "The Patriots," "Tartuffe," and "Candida," plus the super-special stage setting, a la Mr. Boyt, and crews.

Cafeteria lines . . . movie lines . . . Lodge lines . . . lines, lines, lines . . . crowds and more crowds . . . especially in the P. O. for the mail, a daily "bright light" . . . FLAT HATS mailed to boys in the service . . . all a part of W. and M.

Time for Christmas . . . serenades by the specialists . . . accompaniment by the army . . . "I'll Be Home for Christmas" . . . annual concert acclaimed great success . . . Santa Claus . . . vacations . . . room inspection that made us spic and span . . . trains. Back for exams . . . morbid interlude . . . all over. German Club Coeds . . . favors, cute as a trick, by Tex and Sunny . . . that big red heart we walked right into . . . navy blue and gold, khaki and stripes, tweed and tux, anything goes. . .

Flu epidemic, but it couldn't keep us down . . . Busy infirmary . . . Katie and her one case of chicken pox.

Chaplains graduations . . . beautiful renditions from the glee club . . . Captain McAfee lauding us . . . Army commencement . . . William and Mary . . . our own February grads . . . Maril and her huge bouquet . . . Acceleration.

Matrimony, next stop . . . Margie Talle, of FLAT HAT fame, and Jack . . . President Marge Lentz and Ed . . . romance in A. S. T. U. circles . . . Lois and Dave . . . Mickey and Carolyn . . . Judy and Dan . . . Rings for Dr. Dick and Nancy, too . . . chapel weddings every other week . . . old friends back . . . every week-end . . . Navy, Army, Air Corps, Marines.

Changes in campus . . . Brown now a hotel . . . obstacle courses . . . Number 19 Handball Court . . . new faculty members . . . girls, girls, girls.

Honors . . . Who's Who to the deserving . . . Phi Bete keys to Jerry, Marge, Elaine, Dave, Betty, Fran, Katie, Midge, Prickett, Mary Wilson, Virginia, Nancy, Dick, Bud, Norma, Babbie . . . Mortar Board tapping . . . Phi Beta Kappa poet, Robert Tristram Coffin.

Rushing, right in time with its name . . . all nine houses . . . gala parties . . . "Spooks", pig-tails 'n all, rainbows, continental trips, international affairs . . . bids . . . pledging.

Then came the parting of ways between the Army and the campus. "Front and Center" brought back memories of our other varsity shows as the A. S. T. Pers provided laughs galore, solidly, take-offs on thisa and thata, the "chorus girl" kick . . . (whose sweaters were those?) and finally the grand finale . . . presentation of the insignia plaque from Major "Snowball" to our President Pomfret . . . the review out in back of Wren . . . 10:15 trains . . . "so longs," not goodbyes . . . a few tears . . . handshakes . . . "Wait-ho-til-ho-the-sun shines, Nellie." They came to love the traditions and goings-on as much as we. They'll be missed, but like the boys of yesteryear—not forgotten.

About this time, Col trotted up to RM, became a brother, and pronto, hung his pin. No time wasted here Marty. Pins recall the Kappa T pin dance in March . . . and their artistic (?) work on the bricks.

Sports weren't as sports used to be . . . no all-American football stars . . . no Southern championship . . . but Joe Och and Kirk did all right for the green, gold, and silver during the court season. Captain Bud led his campus and army men through a satisfying season with the pigskin and with the motto "c'est la guerre". flying high, complaints were at zero.

Beautiful spring days . . . planes soaring over Billsburg . . . sun baths . . . Spring Serenade . . . W. S. C. G. A. elections . . . Heads Ellie, Dinny, Sunny take over . . . brand new rules for girls' morale . . . 12 o'clocks on Saturday, Rexalls Number Two, inter-communication allowed (through windows), Monday dating and on and on, with much applause to Marge, Lebe, and Katie for their ardent efforts.

Spring came and the "grass didn't riz." Susie Seay's letter got us all "hepped" up and we didn't cut campus . . . and then the grass did "riz." Clean-up campaign began . . . fences got painted . . . papers were picked up . . . and everything was "purty."

We had our own versions of Frank Sinatra—three of 'em—with Army Griffin, the freshman culprit, and T. Smith, who rendered "The Music Stopped" with enough "umph" to make all the Barrett lassies swoon one evening.

Freshman activities began with orientation . . . Restoration tours . . . President's reception . . . registration . . . duc caps . . . Lord Botetourt . . . bugs, bugs, bugs . . . middle walks . . . Tribunals . . . bugs, bugs, bugs . . . Saturday dates . . . rushing . . . bugs, bugs, bugs, Thanksgiving game, sans caps . . . but bugs, bugs, bugs . . . Christmas serenading . . . first pins . . . initiation . . . spring.

Then came the Sophs . . . ribbing the freshman, running Tribunal . . . week-night dating . . . yelling loudest at football games . . . proud of our campus . . . soph-junior cooperation with dances . . . no bugs.

Juniors looked wisely at sunken (?) garden . . . more permissions . . . class of "we-all-started-together-but-acceleration" troubles . . . Spring Serenade . . . almost seniors . . . work, work, work.

Seniors . . . academic processions . . . few men . . . elections . . . February commencement . . . June too soon . . . class of '44 . . . farewell . . . come back.

In addition to the Army and Navy men, William and Mary welcomed several Waves into the fold. New groups arrived throughout the winter months and by spring they were a part of the school . . . even took phys ed with the girls . . . one, two, three, four.

Entertainment was at its highest in the 1943-44 session. Fifty-nine varieties . . . Jan Veen and his program of theater dance . . . The Merry Wives of Windsor . . . monologuists . . . Student's Music Club presentations, really professionals . . . art exhibits . . . specialist's "smoker's" . . . Fort Eustis, Camp Peary entertainments . . . visiting lecturers . . . concerts . . . endless and wonderful.

Spirit prevails here. Perhaps the best determinism and spirit was displayed by Johnny Payne, who covered the secret Tribunal so well, from trees and keyholes, that he landed in bed for awhile. "Never say die" 'cause Johnny is right back—reporting.

Sadness crept into the year with the death of Dean Kremer J. Hoke, loved by all . . . the announcement of the death of Johnny Grembowitz, followed by the letter from "Bottles" which expressed how we all feel . . . the agonies of war.

Two plus two equals four and all the memories of this year simply say "William and Mary loved of old" for all of us. For those leaving, "so long"—for the remaining, cherish it with all your heart.

Always crowded attendance at the Specialist's "smokers" . . .
